Beyond Pilots: Male Engagement Models Transforming Family Planning at Scale

ICFP 2025
3-6 NOV • BOGOTÁ • COLOMBIA

Wednesday, Nov 5, 2025
7:00 pm - 9:00 pm
Ágora, Room HI

Scaling male engagement in family planning is no longer optional—it is essential for impact. Join us for an interactive evening exploring how evidence-based male engagement models are moving beyond pilots to transform family planning outcomes for women and men at scale. Surgo Health will debut new survey findings and predictive AI insights, revealing male "profiles" and priority geographies for smarter program design and investment. We will also hear from leading implementers – such as Population Services International (Transform PHARE), Equimundo and RWAMREC's Bandebereho, and others – sharing real-world lessons on what drives scale. Finally, be among the first to hear how the Gates Foundation is beginning to shape a new initiative on men and boys in family planning. Expect rapid-fire talks, lively discussion, and practical takeaways you could apply to strengthen your own work.

Speakers:
Alison Malmqvist, Senior Advisor, Women's Health, Population Services International
Milly Kaggwa, Women's Health Lead, Population Services International
Cody Ragonese, Deputy Director of Programs, Equimundo
Katherine Hay, Co-Executive Director, Center on Gender Equity and Health, UC San Diego
Courtney McLarnon, Director, External Engagement and Impact, Center on Gender Equity and Health, UC San Diego
